CHARITY

Charity is that with which no one is lost, and without which no one is saved.

Hello Parishioners of Immaculate Conception!

My name is Taylor Sanford and I am excited to be assigned as your seminarian for the summer. My good friend Joseph Bergan and I have switched places: this summer he is up in Omaha, Nebraska at the Institute for Priestly Formation (IPF) where I was last summer. IPF offers a program for seminarians to focus more on their personal relationship with Jesus Christ as the true source of all happiness and holiness. Please pray for him during this special time and pray for me as I now get to dive into parish life.

Before I get to know y'all individually, allow me to give a brief sketch of my life: I was born and raised in Baton Rouge, attending St. George School and Church. In high school I was an avid runner and proud member of the "orange wave" of Catholic High under the legendary Coach Pete Boudreaux. After graduating in 2010, I studied chemical engineering at LSU where I was eventually introduced to Fr. Todd as a newly ordained priest. He had enough patience to walk with me for four years, guiding me as I dove deeper into my relationship with Christ. With much prayer, discernment, and typical millennial angst, my heart finally found peace in entering seminary after graduation.

My time in seminary has been greatly blessed, to say the least. Outside of prayer, study, and various formation events, I spent most of my time running the wooded trails and playing ultimate frisbee with the other guys. Upon graduating from St. Ben's in Covington, I went across the lake to attend Notre Dame Seminary in New Orleans. It was quite an adjustment going from the slow, peaceful atmosphere of the monastery grounds to the busy city of New Orleans. While the city is finally starting to grow on me, I've been greatly looking forward to being in your quiet country parish!

I have just completed my first year of theology, which puts me on track to be ordained a priest of Jesus Christ – God willing! – three years from now. Please pray that I remain faithful to the Lord's call and that many more men and women will hear the voice of the Bridegroom calling them to leave all else to follow Him.

I look forward to meeting you all soon and imposing myself on your hospitality! (The word on the street is that I should have fasted for two weeks prior to moving yalls way if I wanted to stay the same weight I'm at right now!)

In Christ,
Taylor Sanford
